SCHOOL No. 10. First term, Archie L. Campbell, Joseph E. Cacciola, Eugene C. Downing, Allen F. Downing, Meta M. Moses, Harry A. Moses. Second term, Eugene C. Downing.

It has been the endeavor of the school board, so far as possible, to secure teachers of moral and mental worth, and having obtained them to retain their services. Most of the teachers have been workers, and it should be understood by all that the school-room is a place for constant and earnest work. We think a pleasant relationship has generally existed between pupils and teachers, and where any unpleasantness has occurred we believe the cause has been as much with the parents as the pupils. We do not think the teachers are perfect in judgment, and they need the assistance of the parents to make the school a success. Parents should not condemn a teacher before personally visiting the school and ascertaining whether or not there is just cause. We have employed three young teachers from our town who have taught one term each in our smaller schools successfully. We have introduced a set of complete school charts, which, if properly used in connection with text books, are a great help to the understanding of the different branches taught in our schools. Teachers who find no time or have no inclination to use them should find their places filled in the future by those of more modern views.

We have also introduced into our schools "The American Citizen," as a subsidiary reader, and for the preparation of the young in a knowledge of our government in its political and social institutions.

We thank the citizens for their co-operation which is indicated by one hundred and thirty-seven visits as shown by the school registers during the past year.
